
“Waste no more
time talking about
great souls and how they should be.
Become one yourself!”

-Marcus Aurelius Antonius

It might be helpful to think of faith like a home. In faith, we shelter ourselves from life's many storms, we feast with friends & family on soul food and we feel the warmth of God's love beaming in on us. So, how do we build a faith that will last? We gather the right tools, like prayer, imagination, love of nature, service, stewardship, and many more. We also need others to help us know how to build. Parents, friends, teachers siblings and ministers all help us build a good faith, and we help them build theirs in turn. Finally, we start that lifelong building process, collecting more tools and gathering more helpers along the way. Eventually, our faith is secure enough to move in and make our own, but the work never stops. Life is sure to keep revealing our need to remodel.
